

Coe Design Landscape Architecture Environmental Policy

Coe Design Landscape Architecture provides professional services in landscape design, urban design and masterplanning, in the UK and internationally.

We integrate the principles of sustainability and environmental protection into all aspects of our practice: our designs, office operations and transport. We aim to find a positive balance between economic viability, social benefit and minimal environmental impact and in doing so, offer the best possible value to the client, the community and the planet. Our policy excludes on-site operations which we seek to advise of best practice in line with current regulations.

Coe Design Landscape Architecture ensures that all activities carried out by the organisation comply with relevant environmental legislation, approved codes of practice and regulations and whenever possible surpass these expectations.

Coe Design Landscape Architecture and its staff are committed to the following objectives and targets:

- To ensure that office supplies are procured from environmentally and socially sustainable sources, such as fair-trade and FSC certified products.
- To ensure that all office waste is recycled including paper, plastic, metal, glass and organic waste, printing cartridges and IT equipment.
- To improve resource efficiency and energy, water and waste minimisation as part of our practice management system.
- To prevent pollution through the appropriate storage and disposal of hazardous materials.
- To reduce business travel through teleconferencing where possible, ensure optimum use of public transport and continue to encourage and facilitate sustainable travel among employees.
- To communicate this policy and so encourage the adoption of sound environmental principles amongst clients, associated consultants, contractors, and suppliers.
- To work to improve the standards of our sectors through leading by example and creating truly sustainable designs.
- To achieve more with less.

Coe Design Landscape Architecture provides training for all staff members to facilitate effective implementation of this policy and to increase environmental awareness.

The environmental policy is reviewed at least annually to ensure continuous improvement in performance.
